Training in 10 minutes or less

Now, get trained and get going! In ten minutes or less, refresh or learn new skills with our no-cost, critical topic Training in Ten modules available 24/7 in streaming video on the web.

Training in Ten topics are driven by your most frequently-asked questions related to the operation of Toro's central irrigation control systems and the efficient use of water.

The topic selection is robust and responsive as learning demands change, so you can count on receiving the training you need when you need it. Training in Ten is also an excellent resource for training new irrigation staff! Training delivery is direct and to-the-point, allowing you to get trained quickly and get back to the task at-hand.

Using streaming video negates any bandwidth issues that may be experienced with slower internet connections. Easy access and simple to use.

The Training in Ten series compliments NSN's Classroom Training where you will have the opportunity to learn a broader range of functions, tips and techniques to master your Toro central control system.
